DETAILED ACTION

1. This communication is in response to the Amendment filed 04/13/2007.

Response to Arguments

- 2. Claims 1 10,16 25 and 32 40 are pending in this Office Action and claims 11 15, 26 31 and 41 59 have been cancelled. After a further search and a thorough examination of the present application, claims 1 10,16 25 and 32 40 remain rejected.
- 3. Applicant's arguments filed with respect to claims 1 10,16 25 and 32 40 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that there is no teaching in Tal of determining changes made to a first copy of the database.

In response to Applicant's argument, the Examiner submits that Tal teaches the changes being made to the first copy of the database in column 5 lines 46 – 55.

Furthermore, Tal's method also comprises of a log directory and a log events flag as disclosed in column 8 lines 1 – 15, from which all changes made can be determined.

Claims 16 and 32 recite the same subject matter and for the same reasons as cited above the rejection is maintained.

Hence, Applicant's arguments do not distinguish the claimed invention over the prior art of record. In light of the foregoing arguments, the 102 rejections are sustained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1 – 10,16 – 25 and 32 – 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tal et al. ('Tal' herein after) (US 7,107,589 B1).

With respect to claim 1, 16 and 32,

Tal discloses a method for synchronization of copies of a database, comprising: determining changes made to a schema of a first copy of the database; generating a migration script according to the changes made to the schema (column 3 lines 27 - 35, Tal); incorporating the migration script into a framework (column 3 lines 41 - 51, Tal); sending the framework to a location of one or more other copies of the database for executing to update the one or more other copies of the database (Figures 1 - 3, column 5 lines 46 - 55, Tal).

With respect to claim 2, 17 and 33,

Art Unit: 2166

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the migration script includes SQL instructions (column 6 lines 20 – 36, Tal).

With respect to claim 3,

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the migration script includes instructions in the form of a derivative of SQL (column 6 lines 20 – 36, Tal).

With respect to claim 4, 19, and 34,

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the migration script includes executable code (column 6 lines 57 - 67 and column 7 lines 1 - 15, Tal).

With respect to claim 5, 19 and 35,

Tal discloses the method of claim 4, wherein the executable code comprises Java code (column 7 lines 5-39, Tal).

With respect to claim 6, 20 and 36,

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of reading the changes comprises comparing a stored snapshot of the schema of the first copy of the database to a current schema of the first copy of the database (column 9 lines 46 - 67 and column 10 lines 1 - 5, Tal).

With respect to claim 7, 21 and 36,

Art Unit: 2166

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein at least one of the one or more other copies of the database comprises a master copy of the database (column 9 lines 11 – 26, Tal).

With respect to claim 8, 22 and 37,

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of sending comprises sending the framework by electronic mail (column 8 lines 57 – 62, Tal).

With respect to claim 9, 23, 24, 38 and 39,

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of sending comprises sending the framework through a source code control system (column 8 lines 40 - 62, Tal).

With respect to claim 10, 25 and 40,

Tal discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of sending comprises sending the framework by storing the framework on a floppy disk and sending the floppy disk by a physical mail service (if the data was stored on a disk it would be obvious that it could be sent by physical mail, column 8 lines 57 – 62, Tal).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
